Panama Canal Blocked by Jap Vessel

By LUIS NOLI
PANAMA (AP) — The grounding of a 746-foot Japanese ship loaded with 51,806 tons of iron ore midway through the Panama Canal blocked traffic both ways Sunday and may keep the 50-mile waterway closed for several days.

More than 60 ships were held up in the canal and at both ends. The Shozan Maru lay in 47 feet of water where she settled after scraping a rocky channel bank that gave her a 75-foot gash in her hull. Her deck was 12 feet above water.

A floating crane sought to raise the bow by pumping air into the flooded parts of the vessel. Authorities hoped this would enable tugs to move the disabled vessel out of the 300-foot-wide Gaillard Cut, the narrowest point in the channel.

If the effort fails, enough iron ore will have to be removed from the hold of the ship to permit it to be towed to a mooring out of the line of traffic.

The freighter, bound from Peru to France, struck the bank a mile from the northern end of the nine-mile cut.

Water rushed into the forward ballast tanks and the boat began to settle at the bow. The 104-foot-wide ship was stuck about in the middle of the channel, which is 300 feet wide.

Divers said the gash was 6 feet high and ran just 10 feet above the Shozan Maru's keel. They said the cargo holds were not damaged.

The Gaillard Cut, with banks more than 300 feet high at some points, slices through the Continental Divide. Work is under way to widen it to 500 feet.

Even after the Shozan Maru is freed, movement of the backed up traffic will be slow. One set of canal locks is being overhauled, putting one of the two navigation lanes out of commission. Ships are not able to move in both directions at once in some sections.

Four Arrested in Gambling Raids at Spa

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Four persons were arrested and various gambling devices confiscated early Sunday when State Police and the Garland County Sheriff's Department raided a restaurant near Hot Springs.

Col. Carl L. Miller, State Police director, said the restaurant, the Hornsby House, was located about six miles south of Hot Springs on Lake Hamilton. Miller said 11 officers conducted the raid. He said they had obtained a search, seize and destroy warrant from Circuit Judge Henry M. Britt.

The raid came about 48 hours after authorities arrested 25 persons at a home southeast of Hot Springs in the Lake Catherine area.

Miller said John Hornsby of Hot Springs was charged Sunday with operating a gambling house. He said that Eddie Faulkner of Sallisaw, Okla., and L. D. Fowler of Hot Springs were charged with aiding and abetting the operation of a gambling house. He also said that Thomas Moline of Omaha, Neb., was charged with gaming.

Miller said all four had been released on bond. Miller said authorities confiscated a crap table, a 21 table, 87 punch boards, numerous packs of playing cards, dice and two cases of whisky in the raid on the restaurant. Miller said the gambling equipment was burned and the whisky turned over to the Alcoholic Beverage Control board.

Rubbing Massage Parlors Wrong

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — A proposed city ordinance in El Paso is rubbing massage parlor operators the wrong way.

The ordinance would prohibit women attendants from massaging men, and men from massaging women. It would license all massage parlors, and it would permit police to revoke licenses for violations of the law.

"I never saw a man who wanted to be massaged by another man," said Marian L. Swigart, a parlor operator. "I couldn't make a living if women were not allowed to massage men patients."

Unions Want $2 Hour Wage Minimum

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer
MIAMI BEACH (AP) — The AFL-CIO said today the new federal minimum wage of $1.60 per hour is not enough for a worker to support a family and pressed Congress anew to enact a $2 minimum.

"The AFL-CIO's objective of a $2 minimum wage can no longer be regarded as a long-range goal. It must be reached as soon as possible," said the executive council of the 14 million member labor federation.

The $1.60 minimum that went into effect this month will fatten the paychecks of more than 7 million lower paid workers by an estimated total of $2 billion a year.

Nathaniel Goldfinger, chief AFL-CIO economist, said a $2 an hour minimum would put another $6 billion a year into the pockets of workers at the bottom of the nation's wage scale.

The AFL-CIO council said minimum wage hikes benefits the nation's economy because most of it flows immediately into consumer markets.

The labor leaders discounted claims by some business groups that raising the minimum wage puts some firms out of business.

They cited a Labor Department study of the effects of the minimum wage hike from $1.25 to $1.40 an hour a year ago, showing that out of 700,000 newly covered firms only three plant closings involving 33 workers could be found.

"In all the covered areas, employment actually went up," a Labor Department spokesman confirmed. He said the Labor Department is conducting a similar study of the impact of the latest increase to $1.60.

"The basic minimum wage of $1.60 an hour, which became effective Feb. 1, still falls far short of providing adequate support for a family," the labor council said.

It said Congress should at least extend the present $1.60 minimum to the approximately 11 million workers still not covered by the law.

Riflemen Bring Down 130 Deer

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — The crack of rifle fire from five marksmen cut down about 130 deer on the Twin Cities Army ammunition plant grounds during the weekend as the hunt began to rid the grounds of a hazard to trucks.

Some 350 to 400 deer have roamed the 2,500-acre grounds in suburban Arden Hills.

A save-the-deer committee, working with the State Conservation Department, tried to tranquilize the deer with doped darts, then remove them to other areas of the state. However, only 27 were captured and at least a dozen died later. The Conservation Department said

Court Rules Double Jeopardy Not Violated

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court today upheld White County Circuit Court's refusal to grant a writ of habeas corpus to Carlond Hammond, who is wanted in Louisiana for the theft of $25,000 in 1964.

Hammond, a Searcy motel operator, sought the writ on grounds that legal procedure had been violated in his extradition hearing before an aide to Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller last August.

Hammond is charged in Louisiana with taking $25,000 from Morris Lucia of Baton Rouge May 13, 1964.

Lucia charged that Hammond told him of a person in Opelousas, La., who had $200,000 in large bills and wanted to exchange them at a 40 per cent discount for bills of smaller denomination.

Lucia said an agreement to purchase the larger bills was made in Baton Rouge and later he and Hammond went to Opelousas to complete the transaction, but that Hammond took his money and fled.

A previous attempt to extradite Hammond failed during the administration of former Gov. Orval Faubus and Louisiana officials entered another request when Rockefeller took office.

Among Hammond's contentions was that the second extradition proceedings violated due process under the doctrine of double jeopardy.

The court held that it did not constitute double jeopardy because the previous attempt to extradite Hammond had not been a matter of judicial judgment.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Watching the Smothers Brothers Show on CBS these Sunday nights is, in a way, like watching the old Jack Paar shows. The viewer is looking for daring and shock almost as much as jokes and musical numbers.

But as far as shocks were concerned Sunday, they were about as strong as those received by touching metal after walking across a casket.

Tommy Smothers' backing by the chorus, did have a long song called "Lloyd George Knew my Father," done to the music of "Onward Christian Soldiers." Pete Seeger, the folk singer, did have a number of war songs to sing, dating back to "Yankee Doodle," including a parody of 1898 sung to the tune of "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp the Boys Are Marching," although the music seems associated with the war of 1914.

Seeger, an attractive performer, also sang a narrative number about soldiers on maneuvers led by a foolish captain into quicksand in the Mississippi River. But there seemed to be little to get very steamed up about in the content of his performance.

Music Clubs, which has given American composers special recognition throughout February, American Music Month.

Club President, Mrs. Sam W. Strong, Jr., heard committee reports, and to conclude the meeting Mrs. W. E. White told about the Hymn of the Month, "Rise Up O Men of God," with all joining in singing it.

Mrs. Feild and co-hostesses, Mrs. Roy Stephenson and Mary Anita Laster, served a dessert plate and coffee to 27 as they arrived.

COLOR

Recommended for Mature Audiences

There was a not altogether successful series of sketches built around a poll which included a Negro named George Wallace, with all the predictable jokes about the similarity of name, and one pretty weak sally about President Johnson.

The program, which has received so much publicity about its "controversy" and troubles with network censors, seems to be in the process of rediscovering, as have other show in the past, that it is difficult if not impossible, to be outrageous, incisive, witty and funny week after week.

ABC's documentary about the Vienna Boys Choir on Saturday night showed the intensive training and discipline of the youngsters between age nine and the time their voices change.

The sopranos live and work in an atmosphere as austere and rigid as a military school, receiving a general education as well as a musical one. Most of the program was devoted to voice training, and the subject was tackled by following the career of one little boy, a serious, sweet-faced child named Reinhard.

The program's big problem was that of language. Since the boys and the teachers spoke English, it was obvious that all concerned were play-acting for the cameras. The program's most rewarding moments came when the choir was singing or staging a performance of an Offenbach opera.

NBC, still shuffling its future programs, now has decided to keep "I Dream of Jeannie" next season. It was not included in the first announcement of plans.

Recommended tonight: "The Lucy Show," CBS, 8-30-9 EST, Joan Crawford in her comedy debut on television; "The Danny Thomas Hour," NBC, 9-10, a program of his one-man nightclub act, taped during an appearance at Lake Tahoe; "The Carol Burnett Show," CBS, 10-11, with Garry Moore and Dward Kirby, in a reunion reminiscing about Carol's start on the old "Garry Moore Show."

Rice Owls Blasted by Porkers

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Razorbacks jumped out to an early 6-0 lead and were never headed as they defeated Rice 78-49 here Saturday.

The victory evened Arkansas' Southwest Conference record at 6-6 and kept alive the Porkers' flickering title chances. Texas leads the SWC with a 8-4 record with two games to go.

Arkansas held a 26-10 lead over Rice midway through the first half and led the Owls 43-32 at the half. Rice cut the advantage to 53-49 about midway through the second half but Arkansas outscored the Owls 14-4 in the next five minutes.

Sophomore Robert McKenzie led Arkansas with 21 points. Gary Stephens had 16 and Benton Cone and James Eldridge contributed 14 each. Eldridge's points gave him 360 for the season—a record for an Arkansas sophomore.

Three Teams Game Aways From Bids

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer Louisville and Bowling Green are in, Kentucky can make it tonight and New Mexico and Weber State are just one game away from berths in the NCAA basketball championship tournament.

Meanwhile, Dayton, Villanova and Long Island, their hopes very much alive, still wait for bids to the National Invitation Tournament as the college basketball season enters the home stretch.

And Houston, No. 1 in the nation and a stretch runner if there ever was one, warmed up for the NCAA with a record 158-81 rout of Valparaiso Saturday. The unbeaten Cougars plan to make Hardin Simmons their 26th victim of the season tonight.

UCLA, No. 2 and leading the Pacific-8, also is in action tonight, at home against Washington State. But the big one is in Lexington, Ky., where the Wildcats will try to nail down their 23rd Southeastern Conference title under Coach Adolph Rupp.

Kentucky, No. 5 with a 19-4 record, plays Auburn, 12-11, and a victory will wrap it up for the Wildcats. Kentucky clinched at least a tie for the title with a 96-83 decision over Alabama Saturday while Georgia upset ninth-ranked Vanderbilt 91-77 and Auburn edged Tennessee 53-52.

New Mexico and Weber State also clinched at least a tie in weekend action, while Louisville, behind the 22 points of Wesley Unsell, beat Wichita State 98-88 for the Missouri Valley title, and Bowling Green took the Mid-American Conference title with an 84-63 triumph over Ohio University.

But the biggest noise was made by a team already assured of an NCAA berth—the Houston Cougars. Elvin Hayes tossed in 62 points in the rout of Valparaiso as the Cougars set two records. Their 158 points was the most in a major college game, as was their 74 field goals.

St. Bonaventure, ranked No. 4 and already in the NCAA, also remained unbeaten, whipping Niagara 97-84. In a Sunday game, Bob Lanier led the winners with 30 points while high-scoring Calvin Murphy of Niagara was limited to 24. Duquesne whipped Fairfield 90-67 in another Sunday affair.

New Mexico, No. 7, clinched at least a share of the Western Athletic Conference title by beating Arizona State 105-83 while Utah was suffering a 93-90 upset by Brigham Young. Weber State beat Idaho State 108-73 for at least a tie in the Big Sky.

The Atlantic Coast, Southern and Mid-Atlantic Conferences will determine their NCAA representatives by tournaments. Third-ranked North Carolina tops the ACC with a 12-0 conference record after beating Virginia 92-74. No. 8 Duke is next, 9-3 in the league after a 58-50 upset by South Carolina. Davidson tops the Southern Conference, 19-4 overall.

Marquette, No. 10, nipped St. John's, N.Y., 87-56 in a battle of two teams already in the NCAA, while tournament-bound Florida State and Boston College also won. Florida State took Georgia Tech 72-67 and Boston College beat Syracuse 97-74.

Dayton crushed Canisius 82-64, Villanova whipped LaSalle 64-56 and unbeaten Lon Island, the No. 1 small college team, took Connecticut 64-47 to keep alive its hopes for an NIT bid.

Seiling Had Surprise for Maple Leafs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rod Seiling had a little surprise for the Toronto Maple Leafs. And for himself.

Seiling unloaded a 60-foot slap shot midway through the third period Sunday that gave the New York Rangers the lead and sent them on the way to a 3-1 victory over the Maple Leafs. It was a long, low shot that tipped off goalie Bruce Gamble's glove.

"Was I surprised to see it go in?" said Seiling. "Yes, surprised and glad."

The victory boosted the Rangers to within one point of the Chicago Black Hawks, who are in second place in the National Hockey League's East Division. It also boosted New York's Sunday unbeaten string to 15.

In other NHL action Sunday, Pittsburgh topped Philadelphia 2-1, Oakland and Minnesota tied 3-3 and Los Angeles took St. Louis 4-2.

State Cage Tourneys Get Started

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Most of the state's finest high school basketball talent will be on display during the next two weeks at T. H. Barton Coliseum—site of the high school state tournaments.

The Class A and Class B state tournaments get under way this afternoon. The AA and AAA teams invade Little Rock next week.

Green Forest will defend its title in Class A but the most-talked about team in the classification is Magnolia Columbia, a Negro school with an impressive 34-1 record.

Taylor, the defending champion in Class B, failed to capture its area title so there will be a new champion in that classification. The prime candidates are Greenbrier and Turrell, both ranked among the Associated Press' top ten high school teams.

Greenbrier has lost only to Class AAA Little Rock Central and sports a 33-1 record. Turrell, 35-0, is the only unbeaten high school team in the state.

Here are the pairings:
Class A
Monday: Green Forest vs. Gosnell, 12:30; Eudora East vs.

Hot Springs Lakeside, 3:30, and Brinkley vs. Lavaca, 8.
Tuesday: Magnolia Columbia vs. Nettleton, 12:30; St. Anne's vs. McGehee, 3:30, and Manila vs. Mulberry, 8.
Wednesday: Altheimer Martin vs. Menz, 2; Marion Pheix vs. Lonoke, 6:30 and quarterfinal game at 9:30.

Class B
Monday: Cotter vs. Grubbs, 2; Star City Lincoln vs. Lynn, 6:30, and Kirby vs. Prattville, 9:30.

Tuesday: Turrell vs. Sulphur Rock, 2; Pyatt vs. St. Charles, 6:30, and Prairie Grove vs. Casa, 9:30.

ness, as the Hope "B" Lizards wrapped up their season with a 67-49 shellacking of the Texarkana Washington "B" team.

The loss ended the regular season for the Bobcats with a 4-10 mark in conference play, good for a tie for fourth place in 4-AA West. Now this week brings the district tournament at Southern State College in Magnolia, which will determine the conference's four representatives to state tournament.

Should Hope win their first two games, they would be in, with the places deciding bracket positions in Little Rock next week. And the Bobcats have a good pairing in the first round of the 16-team bracket of district, taking on the Camden Panthers of 4-AA's Eastern side. Should Hope take that one, the Cats would face a determined Fairview Cardinal team in the quarterfinals. The bracket pairings and times for tournament games will be listed when announced by the Arkansas Athletic Association or Region 4-AA, probably by tomorrow.

Ashdown Wins State Class A Girls Title

Hope Girls Lose Bid for State Title to Ashdown by a Point

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

Life can be so futile. One sickly point made the difference as the Ashdown Pantherettes edged the proud Hope Lady Cats 47-46 for the State Class A Senior Girls championship in an overflowing Prescott High School gym last Saturday night.

With eight seniors playing their last game after many long years of playing basketball for Hope High School, it was a heart-breaking loss. Of course, the other Hope girls were crushed, but it was the last chance for the seniors. And Ashdown won it in the most demonstrative way, by coming from behind in the second half.

The doors to the gym had to be locked over forty minutes before the 7:30 p.m. gametime, and many fans, nearly all of them from Hope, were turned away. In a room that could seat 600 persons, a crowd pushing 1000 crammed in, many even settling for a square foot of space in the lobby, where the scoreboard was all that could be seen.

They got their money's worth several times over, though, in a beautiful showoff of girls basketball. And District 7-A proved that it rules in Class A, with both Ashdown and Hope able to outclass anybody else in the tourney to get to the finals again.

As the opening tip was tossed up, it was simple to realize that it would be a game never to be forgotten. Hope controlled the tip, and Kathryn Coleman made a layup to send the Lady Cats ahead 2-0 with 6:33 left in the first period. Ashdown quickly evened it up on a 10-footer by Nita McGraw, and the teams were destined to play it close.

The Pantherettes hit the lead for the first time on a freethrow by McGraw with 4:52 left at 5-4. With both sets of guards limiting open shots to nil, neither team could hit from outside and the teams battled with little sloppiness, and few points were scored.

On the up side of the basket-trading, the Lady Cats held the lead 9-7 when the first quarter ended. However, Hope fans still didn't have too much to cheer about, because the Lady Cats had gone through a four-minute period in the first quarter without scoring.

That second quarter, though, was the last one in which the Hope girls outscored the opponent. Finally shaking off the fact that Ashdown wanted to win, the game became the Lady Cats' showcase. With Hope leading 11-10, the score stayed the same for over two minutes, before the Lady Cats began to take advantage of Ashdown's mistakes and muster up a lead.

To break it open Carol Anthony popped two free shots, her first points of the entire contest, as she was being guarded closely, sometimes by two girls. Then Kathryn Coleman sacked a 10-footer with 3:17 left in the half to put Hope ahead 15-10. Both squads quickly traded two points for the umpteenth time, and the Pantherettes couldn't catch up.

Stuck in a lead that fluctuated between three and five points,

The Ashdown Pantherettes edged the Hope girls by a single point Saturday night to capture the Arkansas Class A girls title.

Hope was playing their best. The guards had Ashdown's forwards diagnosed, and the forwards were hitting their shots at a near 50 per cent accuracy. But the climax came in the final 1:07 of the half, as the Lady Cats flipped in two outside field goals to take a beautiful 23-15 margin into the dressing room backed by a standing ovation from their followers.

For some reason, though, things sort of got turned around during the ten-minute intermission. I suppose that, when a coach has been at a school like Helen Parker's 21 years at Ashdown, she can learn to give some pretty eloquent speeches, before it's over with. This had to be the case during the halftime, because Ashdown's Pantherettes returned looking like the team that had beaten the Lady Cats 54-51 in double overtime in the district finals on that same court exactly a week earlier.

The first abnormal thing to happen came about after nearly ten seconds of play. Pantherette forward Suzanne Walker scored a basket and made the foul shot for a three-point play, and suddenly Hope only led 23-18. But the weird thing about the situation was that in the first half Miss Walker had not even been allowed a shot.

So before you could blink an eye Ashdown had cut it to 30-27 with three minutes left in the third quarter. By now the momentum had swung in the other direction, on account of the fact that guards Nellie Churchwell and Kay Coleman had picked up four fouls apiece while doing their best job ever, along with Donna Byers.

Neither team could score a thing for a long time, before two outside shots for Ashdown brought them within a single sickly point. Anthony threw in a rebound, however, and Hope led 34-31 with 0:53 left in the third segment. Gayle Altenbaumer and Nita McGraw were hitting from way out for the Pantherettes to hold them close, and they trailed the Lady Cats by one sickly point, 36-35, entering the grand finale.

Sheer pandemonium was existing on both sides, as both squads gave each other opportunity after opportunity. Kathryn Coleman hit one of her patented hook shots to give Hope 40-37, breathing room with 5:45 to go, but Ashdown matched basket for basket. Tense and numb with the game's closeness, nobody could do anything right, and the scoreboard remained unchanged until Gail Hartsfield sank a layup at 2:34 for a 42-39 lead.

Now the action came thick and fast. McGraw made a crucial three-point play to even it up at 42-all with 2:12 remaining, a net-popper to put the Lady Cats on top 44-42 when Carol Anthony stepped to the line with a 1 and 1 and 1:41 to go. Here the buildup of the long game told, and Carol missed her first shot.

Ashdown came down quickly, and after taking a jump ball forward McGraw laid another claim to the title of "supergirl" for the Pantherettes by tying it up on still another 20-footer. Then she assured herself of the heroine award by dropping two charity shots to send her team ahead 46-44 with 1:12 now left.

But the last minute was frustrating, and many people will be trying to push it out of their minds in the future. When the Lady Cats could not put the ball through the hoop, they were called for fouling.

Things still were quite hopeful when McGraw missed a free shot with 36 ticks on the clock. But a whistle blew, and referee Grady Cathey broke the news to a totally silent crowd that Hope's Kay Coleman had entered the foul lane too early for her rebound, and thus Ashdown got a second chance. One sickly point, and Nita McGraw made it.

Hope quickly sent Kathryn Coleman underneath for two points with only 20 seconds to go, and the crowd became optimistic of the Lady Cats' chances in pulling it out. Suzanne Walker was fouled quickly by our Donna Byers, and her attempt went astray. Thirteen long seconds to go, but this time, of all times, the ball bounced high off the backboard and away from Hope's strong side.

Altenbaumer pulled it down for Ashdown, and the antagonizing wait for the foul began. But the Pantherettes kept the ball away from Donna Byers, knowing that she had fouls to spare while Coleman and Churchwell already had four. Finally Donna was able to foul the person with the ball, but the wait had been too long. Only one pendulum swing was left in the season. The free throw was missed, and Hope got the rebound. Then they ran outtime.

It is the belief of this writer that, on a neutral court, Hope and Ashdown are the best-matched teams to come around Hope in a long while. Not taking a thing away from the Pantherettes, because they have one heckuva team, but no one will ever know which team was the better. There were too many "ifs."

Therefore Ashdown can call themselves state Class A champions, and only our town will remember who was runnerup. Leslie High School took the sportsmanship and scholarship trophies, and they will be tough next year. But the only place where Hope came out on top was by placing three girls on the All-State team, more than any other team.

The Coleman sisters, Kathryn and Kay, very deservedly were selected along with Carol Anthony, who set records with her 702 points in her last season as a Lady Cat. The Most Valuable Player award went to Rita Adams of Greenwood, although many thought that a Lady Cat, either Anthony or Kathryn Coleman, should have gotten it. Miss Adams was a very fine forward, though, with a lot of ability. And by the way, Ashdown put Nita McGraw and Kay Welch on the all-state team.

The season is over for the Lady Cats now, however, and the greatest girls team in Hope history just wasn't willing to win it tomorrow the season as a whole will be observed and evaluated, but you can tell by now the Hope Lady Cats still have nothing to be ashamed of.

Little Reds Surprise With Victory

In basketball action at Jones Field House Saturday morning, the Reds surprised everyone by winning their first game of the season. The Whites surprised no one by winning their third straight, with no losses. The Greens fouled 10 times trying to stop the Reds. The Reds hit the free throws as well as the field goals and rolled to an easy 21-11 victory.

At the half-way mark on the schedule, the Whites are alone at the top with all three other teams tied with identical 1-2 records.

Jim: "We get a lot of mail complaining that there are too many bidding conventions."

Oswald: "For people who want to play bridge for nothing but relaxation, I do feel that too many conventions are out of place. The average player should not attempt to make every bridge game a memory exercise. On the other hand, if you play in a national championship, you should be expected to extend yourself. A golf champion uses 14 clubs—the ordinary player should get along with half as many."

Jim: "One artificial convention is almost universal. That is the Blackwood four and five not-rump. Let's talk about it this week."

Oswald: "Today's hand shows Blackwood in its simplest form. North's three not-rump response shows a balanced hand with 15-17 high card points but those points don't mean too much to South. He doesn't care about points. What he wants to know is how many aces North has."

Jim: "The Blackwood convention lets him find out. His four not-rump bid says, 'Partner! If you have no aces or four aces, then bid five clubs; if you have one ace, bid five hearts; with three aces, bid five spades, and leave the rest to me.'"

Oswald: "North responds dutifully and shows two aces, whereupon South contracts for the cinch six spades."

Jim: "We gave the example with malice aforethought. Those who play that any four not-rump bid is Blackwood have no trouble with this hand. Some experts would have real trouble. They play that, under certain circumstances, a bid of four not-rump is just a strong not-rump bid and not a demand for aces."

THE WELL CHILD

Cold Capsules No Help In Treating Nasal Allergy

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

It is always a puzzle to tell whether a child with respiratory symptoms has a cold or an allergy. Dr. M. B. Marks at the University of Miami has made a study of the signs peculiar to respiratory allergies in children. One, which he calls the allergic shiner, develops after about a year of allergic rhinitis. Dark circles suddenly appear under the eyes without any apparent cause. They are, however, due to swelling of the nasal mucous membranes interfering with the normal venous drainage from the eyelids.

Although in most cases the cause of the so-called geographic tongue is unknown, Dr. Marks has found that it is often present in children with a nasal allergy. It disappears as the child grows older. Along with the mottled appearance of the tongue, the adenoids of these children may become enlarged. In such cases surgical removal of the adenoids may increase rather than relieve the problem, but treatment of the allergy will reduce the adenoids to their normal size.

Another sign, which Dr. Marks calls the allergic salute, is a pressing upward of the nose with the heel of the hand to relieve itching and make breathing easier. If your child has a nasal allergy, it is important to recognize it for what it is and have your doctor prescribe appropriate treatment. Cold capsules and other household remedies won't help.

Q—My daughter, 9, may go for a week without a bowel movement. Laxatives don't seem to help. What should I give her?

A—The most likely cause of this condition is megacolon or an abnormally large colon. If an obstruction in the colon exists, it should be corrected before any other treatment is tried. Otherwise the condition may be due to faulty nerve supply to the colon. When your daughter has gone 72 hours without a bowel movement, you should give her an

You May Be Listening But Do You HEAR?

By AILEEN SNOODY

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Husbands who listen to their wives with the ears turned off can get off the hook with a sweet word or two. But if the same man pulls this with the boss or a customer—and loses orders or gums up production—the sweet words may be to the man behind the counter at the unemployment office.

This country is criticized for many ills. Now it seems we are suffering from poor listening habits.

Pinpointing the possibly sad course of improper listening is an excerpt from a recent Smothers Brothers television script. The chain of command bit starts with a private on a field telephone. He asks, "You'd like to negotiate? O.K. I'll tell 'em."

He passes the information to the sergeant, who passes it to the captain, who bucks it to the colonel.

By this time the comment is, "Hey, colonel, there's an unlikely chance they'll negotiate." The colonel tells the general, "It's unlikely they'll negotiate." And the general says, "O.K., I'll tell him," turning to a White Cowboy Hat, saying, "Hey, sir, they ain't gonna negotiate. Let's increase the bombing."

White Cowboy Hat: "Whatever you say, general... I'll call up the reserves... but it gives me a heavy heart."

Far-fetched? Not according to university studies that show that, although people spend 45 per cent of our communication time listening, 70 to 75 per cent of the information is lost. We hear about 25 per cent of what is said and lose much of that in a few days.

Schools spend about 12 years teaching students to read a sentence, and from remedial courses for college freshmen they don't do too good a job. Learning specific reading skills is chopped off generally at the eighth grade but speech courses are hit-and-miss in most schools.

What does this have to do with punching a time clock? A study of industry by a Minneapolis firm shows management and employees just don't communicate.

The report by Pidgeon Savage Lewis, Inc., shows the loss. The 100 per cent understanding for the company board chairman filters to 63 per cent for vice president, 56 per cent for general supervisor, 40 per cent plant manager, 30 per cent general foreman and 20 per cent worker. The result is a dissatisfied chap down the line who is out to get anything from the company that ignores him—he thinks.

Many firms are now investing in a new teaching technique to close the listening gap. Since its start in 1962, when approximately 225,000 people learned how to listen more effectively, using a 2½-hour program tape, the technique grew to touch more than 600 companies plus college faculty and students.

Howard Brownstein, director of marketing for the educational division of Xerox, took the course while working for an insurance company.

At the time he took the course, Brownstein was bonding up to be a better marketing man for the insurance firm. The procedure is the same, whether men and women around a conference table are salesmen, airlines reservations clerks or secretaries.

The course supervisor distributes booklets that each person uses to mark answers in. After brief instructions not to peek at pages ahead, the tape starts. At first there are sentences such as, "The cutter can't be used because the blade's too long." The student writes a response to why the cutter can't be used (the blade's too long).

As the tape runs, the types of questions and information presented grow more complex. For example, answers to a discussion on a horse bet on Lightning Speed or Man of Victory requires five points picked from a rambling conversation of several hundred words. With each response, background noise of an office, street sounds or of a baby wailing shoots up and the listener must sort his information from the cacophony. It's everyday!

Like so many new learning or self-improvement courses, the response book lets the participant know his improvement. Although set up best with 20 persons in a class (it costs $1,200 to license the Effective Listening series plus $2.50 a book), Brownstein says it works well with large groups. One company, for example, used it as an afternoon's entertainment on an incentive junket in Hawaii. A bank president insisted his wife take the course to keep her on her toes while entertaining business guests.

Brownstein points out that most people don't listen or hear what is being said because they don't organize the main points, they let bias get in their way, they can't sift out trivia or they get carried away by emotion.

For example, key words cloud a listener's thoughts and block out what may be important. Some of these are "mother-in-law, automation, income tax, Bobby Kennedy or LBJ, Vietnam, clerk or nigger." Learning to listen helps hurdle these obstacles.

A good listener, according to Brownstein, becomes a sifter and winnow. When asked what happens when a person tries to get something relevant from an irrelevant dinner speech, he confesses that "you chalk it up to bad listening experience."

Dynamic Duos Coming Up?

By DICK KLEINER
NEA Hollywood Correspondent

A couple of possible new teams to topline future movies—Liz Taylor and Bob Mitchum set to do a film in London this spring (and that should be a sizzler) and Doris Day tells me she'd very much like to work with Dean Martin... Anne-Margret just bought 150 head of Aberdeen Angus cattle for her ranch in Texas—they're safer than motorcycles, anyhow... Ralph Bellamy worked with Mia Farrow in "Rosemary's Baby" and says Mia is "a good little actress and a real trouper"...

A singer, whose last name is Kitt, Gave the girls in the White House a fit. Right after the lunch. She told them a bunch; She showed honesty, not etiquette.

Let's hear a few oles for the Baja Marimba Band, an off-shoot of the Herb Alpert Tijuana Brass cartel, which is bringing good music back to the popular field. Julius Wechter, the Baja's boss, is naturally happy about the group's success, but there is a sour note.

The group was originally formed to record. They were all top studio musicians, men who had put years of apprenticeship in and thought they had those road days out of their system.

Not now. Now the group is so hot that everybody wants to see them. So they've had to go back on the road. (A few wouldn't do it, so there have been some substitutions.)

They put on a good, pseudo-Spanish show. They all grew long, droopy mustaches and smoke long, hand-droopy cigars.

"We lucked out," Wechter says. "We chose men for musicianship, but some of them turned out to be great entertainers, too."

One by-product of the group's success—on their A&M records and television and in person—is that marimba sales are way up. Wechter, who studied piano and then drums and then combined the two with his marimba, says the company that makes his is having the biggest boom in its 100-year history.

Daktari's Marshall Thompson directed his first episode of the series, the last episode to be shot this year. He seemed to know what he was doing.

He even innovated—using hand-held cameras at one point "to make for a fast-paced show with quick cuts, hopefully adding to the over-all excitement."

The cast liked working for him. "He's the kind of person," Cheryl Miller said, "who thinks about every detail."

Kids who are ambitious for a show business career can envy the offspring of established stars. They figure they could get advice from, say, Dean Martin if they were his children.

But Dino Martin says Dean's advice was not so helpful.

"The only thing he told me," Dino says, "is that I should keep smiling, don't put my hat on the bed and never, never whistle in the dressing room."

With that advice, you can go far. If you have talent.

Knudson Is Winner at Tucson

By STEVE BASSETT
Associated Press Writer
TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The Grand Canyon took a back seat today to Canada's George Knudson, winner of the $100,000 Tucson Open golf tournament and Arizona's newfound attraction.

Knudson, nervous, chain-smoking veteran from Toronto, charged from the pack Sunday to win the $20,000 top money in Tucson, a week after pocketing the same amount for his Phoenix Open victory.

"It was a great round, just a great round," said Knudson of his 7-under-par 65, which gave him a 72-hole score of 15-under 273 and a one-stroke triumph over Frank Beard and Frank Boynton.

The 155-pound Knudson, who says a weight lifting program has given him added strength, proved his point when he wrecked the final nine holes of the 7,200-yard, par-72 Tucson National golf course.

After two birdies on the front side, he rolled in five birdie putts on the final nine holes, ranging from one foot to a curving 35-footer on No. 13.

Dale Douglass, Denver, Colo., a second round co-leader, needed a birdie on the 18th hole to tie Knudson. He found a trap with his approach shot on the 465-yard, par-4 hole and ended with a bogey 5.

land, for second at 274, after a final round of 67. Boynton had a 35-32-67 Sunday. Each man picked up $9,750.

Douglass joined second round co-leader Bill Ogden, the host pro, and the 54-hole pacesetter, Harold Henning of South Africa, a stroke farther back at 275. Each man got $4,366.

Al Gelberger was alone at 276, winning $3,400, while Tony Jacklin and Jack Montgomery each pocketed $2,950 with their 278s.

FORT KNOX, Ky. — The Bronze Star Medal with "V" device for heroism in Vietnam was presented here Feb. 9 to Army Captain Kendall M. Lemley of 403 W. 16th St., Hope, Ark. Captain Lemley, who is assigned here as an instructor in the US Army Armor School, won the medal for his actions during a battle on May 24, 1967, when he was serving with the 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment.

During the battle, he ran through intense enemy fire to evacuate seriously injured crewmen from their crippled tank, and then led the men to safety.

Capt. Lemley is the son of Colonel and Mrs. Kenneth M. Lemley of the US Embassy in Ottawa, Can. He entered the Army in June 1965, with an Army commission earned from the US Military Academy at West Point.

Ouachita, S. State in Semifinals

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Ouachita, which defeated Southern State three times during the regular season, faces the Muleriders tonight at 7 p.m. in the first semifinal game of the AIC Tournament.

Harding and Arkansas College meet at 9 p.m. in the other semifinal game.

Southern State had a far easier time reaching the semifinals than did Ouachita.

The Tigers edged past John Brown U. 79-77 in the first round Saturday on a basket by Roger Patillo with nine seconds left. Southern State put everything together and defeated Arkansas A&M 108-64.

Harding led almost all the way and defeated Arkansas Tech 97-81. Jim Haney and Bill Cossey led Arkansas College to an 84-71 decision over Philander Smith.

The winner of the tournament will face league champion Henderson in a best of three match. The elimination winner will represent District 17 in the national NAIA tournament at Kansas City.

Ouachita's Danny Sheets scored 35 points as did John Brown's John Donnelly. Ouachita led 41-36 at the half but JBU went ahead 63-62 with about seven minutes left. The lead changed hands several times before OBU gained a 77-74 advantage. JBU tied it up with 1:15 to play but OBU worked for the good shot and Patillo connected.

Southern State led 52-30 at the half and had things in hand the rest of the way. Five Muleriders scored in double figures led by Donnie Denton with 19. Louis Sausevero paced A&M with 13.

Harding went ahead 7-4 and Tech never got even. The Bisons led 48-31 at the half. Jeff Stitt paced the Bisons with 23. John Gross led Tech with 26.

Haney scored 24 and Cossey 23 in the Scotties' victory. Arkansas College led 37-29 at the half. Philander Smith closed to within six but the Scots ran off 15 straight points to put it away. Jimmie Turner led Philander with 17 points.

Murton to Meet on Prison Finance

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Prison Supt. Thomas O. Murton is attending a Manpower Development Training Conference in San Francisco today in an attempt to obtain federal funds for the state prison system.

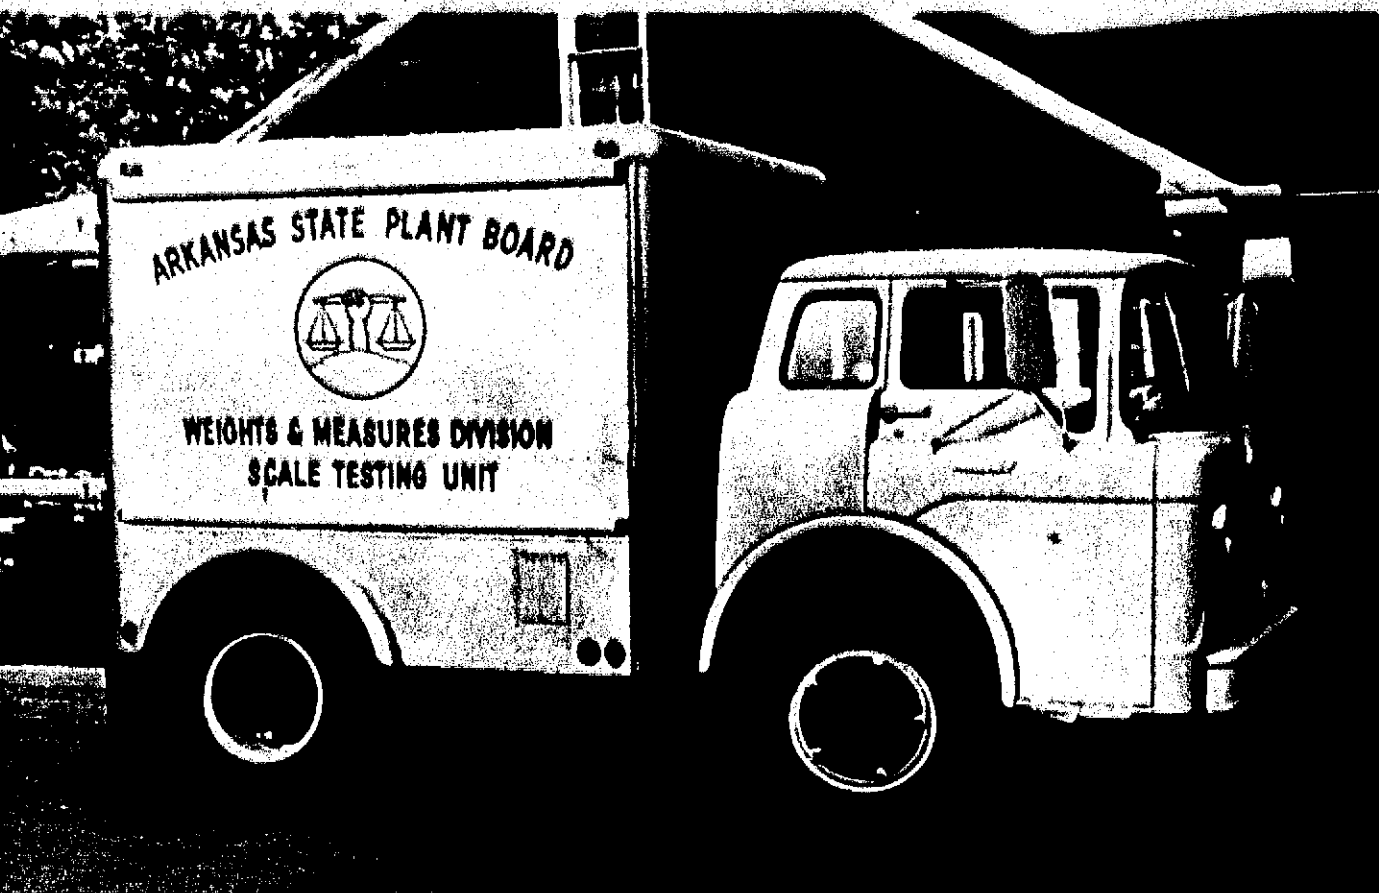

Murton said any money obtained would be used for vocational training of tractor drivers, dairy workers and others. He said inmates can earn up to $20 weekly under the program which is funded by the Department of Labor.

"It's probably one of the greatest things that has ever happened," Murton said. "The law does not permit use of state funds, but there is no objection of using federal funds."

"The state doesn't have to put up any additional money and doesn't have to build anything," Murton said before leaving Saturday. "The equipment, supervision and the training program will be provided through these funds."

Murton said he hopes to return to Arkansas in time for a Wednesday morning meeting of the state Prison Board at Tucker Prison Farm. He said he hopes to know when he returns "how much money we can expect."

Weights and Measures Observance

National Weights and Measures Week observance has been designated as March 1 to 7 this year. It marks the anniversary of the adoption of the first Weights and Measures law by the United States Congress which was signed on March 2, 1799. The first official observance of the importance of rigid standards in weights and measures throughout the country was organized in March, 1958 by the Scale Manufacturers Association, Inc., in cooperation with State and City Sealers throughout the United States. Arkansas's first Weights and Measures Act was enacted in 1963. Today, hundreds of communities participate in educating the public to the importance of accuracy in weighings and measurements which daily affect their lives. Arkansas State Weights and Measures offices are a Division of the Arkansas State Plant Board, of which Mr. Robert W. Anderson is Director. Aubrey Bussell of Hope, is inspector of local area.

NEEDS SPELLING LESSON MORE THAN TYPEWRITER
Dear Helen:

I am a secretary to a rich miser. He won't give me a raise, or a perculator and coffee for my desk, and, even worst, he won't buy me an electric typewriter!

I have been working here over six months and I think its time to make demands. I'm tired of — BANGING THE KEYS

Dear B.T.K.

Be sure you're "in demand" before you make them. Sloppy spellers usually aren't. Nor are secretaries who call their bosses "rich misers" behind their backs.

Besides, the stenographer who switches to an electric typewriter risks gaining three pounds a year. I'm told. Those manual monsters burn calories.

More People on Relief Than Ever

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A report from the front in another war—the war against poverty—makes as cheerful reading.

During 1967, in the third year of President Johnson's antipoverty program, with its avowed aim of helping people to help themselves, more people went on relief than ever before.

In the single program of aid to families with dependent children—by far the largest and most active of the aid programs—686,000 people were added to the rolls last year compared with 319,000 during the previous year and an average annual increase of 220,000 over the past five years. The total number in the program is now at a record high 5.4 million.

And not only are families going on the rolls at a faster rate than ever, they are slower to get off. Last year the number of cases closed declined from the previous year.

Even so, there is this startling statistic from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare: Today, in the 34th year of the government's commitment to a welfare program, only half those eligible for child welfare benefits are getting them. The rest either don't know about it or won't sign up out of pride.

The department said the big increase was unanticipated, but in justifying a request for an emergency appropriation of $1.1 billion to keep the programs going, the department gave at least one reason that can hardly be called a new development.

This is the persistence of a high unemployment rate among the unskilled and uneducated. For Negroes among this group the unemployment rate is three to four times above the average.

Another reason for the increase is the long-continuing movement of rural poor to the cities where welfare benefits are easier to get and more generous. The states set their own benefits rates and eligibility standards, and contribute part of the money.

The wide discrepancy in the states' efforts to help their poor is seen in the level of benefits in the children's program: From a low of $8.35 per child per month in Mississippi to $57.20 in New Jersey. The national average is $38.15 per child or $157.70 per family.

Ironically, it is the administration's effort to improve the lot of the poor that has probably contributed most to the increase in the welfare load. A major activity of many community anti-poverty groups is to help people who qualify for welfare benefits and helping them establish their eligibility. Civil rights groups and other private organizations are also active in this area.

Also, the new Medicaid program has turned up many families eligible for relief under the children's aid program.

But that was also a well-advertised feature of the last big overhaul of the program in 1962, and the rolls have increased steadily every since.

Murton Will Challenge Baby's Removal

CUMMINS PRISON FARM, Ark. (AP)—A 6-week-old infant whose mother is an inmate here has been placed in care of a warden and his wife, and prison Supt. Thomas O. Murton says he is ready to challenge efforts to have the child removed.

He said anyone who intends to remove the baby from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crawford "should come prepared to remove all children from the prison grounds."

The baby previously was cared for in the women's reformatory at Cummins, but the state Welfare Board approved a motion last Friday asking Commissioner Len Blaylock to do whatever was necessary to remove the child from the prison.

Murton said a foster home agreement was entered into by the mother of the child and the Crawfords, pending "development of a permanent plan at some future time."

Murton said removal of the child from the reformatory apparently didn't satisfy some "of our good citizens who seek to extract one more pound of flesh of retributions from this woman."

A spokesman at Murton's office said there were "at least 25" free world children living on the prison grounds.

"It is now contended that the free world staff's housing area on the prison ground does not constitute a suitable environment for a 6-week-old baby," Murton said in a prepared statement. "If any rational being in possession of his mental faculties seriously believes that, then, of course, the free line is not acceptable as a housing area for all children living there."

"I think it is time to cease persecution of the mother and her infant son under the guise of samaritan concepts and channel these energies into more productive ventures which have a greater likelihood of success," Murton said.

Romney Has Troubles in Own Backyard

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — While Gov. George Romney struggles in New Hampshire and Wisconsin to stay in the Republican presidential race, embarrassing political trouble is developing in his own backyard.

Republican conservatives who have long opposed the governor are in the midst of a well-organized campaign that could siphon eight or more Michigan delegates from Romney, forcing him to go to the Republican national convention without the unanimous endorsement of his own state.

Romney, battling to reverse his sharp downswing in national polls, can ill afford any appearance of weakness in his principal power base.

The degree of his opponents' success in Michigan will be better measured after county and district Republican conventions across the state March 27.

But a Michigan congressman who strongly supports Romney told a reporter that after hearing a report on the situation from GOP State Chairman Elly Peterson, "I was really discouraged."

"The trouble is that the extremists are working extremely hard and the moderates are only working moderately hard," said another congressman, equally committed to Romney's candidacy.

Opposition to Romney is led by Richard Durant of Grosse Pointe, chairman of the 14th Congressional District party organization in Wayne County, which includes Detroit.

Durant also heads the United Republicans of Michigan, a conservative-oriented group which, say Romney forces, has a dozen or more paid workers operating in the field.

Durant could not be reached for comment, but the extent of his activity may become evident when the United Republicans convene in Grand Rapids March 9.

"We know he's working all over the state," said Mrs. Peterson, who came to Washington to make her report to Romney supporters.

The most fertile fields for Romney opponents are in Oakland and Macomb counties, both Detroit suburbs, and in areas along the state's southern border.

At the 1964 GOP convention, eight of Michigan's 48 delegates abandoned Romney to vote for Sen. Barry Goldwater, the winner, but Romney then was only a favorite son, not the serious contender he is today.

Through his three terms as governor, arch conservatives among the Republicans have never bothered Romney significantly at the polls. But they've repeatedly harassed him within the party organization on a variety of issues.

The party hierarchy cannot shut the dissidents out of the convention delegation because each of the 19 congressional districts picks two delegates. Ten more will be selected at large at a state convention April 26-27.

Party leaders aren't worried about the loyalty of the at-large delegates, but they've already written off the two to be picked from Durant's 14th district and are worried about at least six others.

The letters OAS stand for the Organization of American States.
